It includes, many different types of songs, e.g. Prog-Metal, Hard Rock, Stoner Metal, and Progressive Metal. There is also some dance parts, and Heavy Metal. If you enjoy it, check out my other releases. I have a lot more art for you, and also art for games. Downloads: Listen to the Songs of Cynoclept: Spotify: Bandcamp: Free Download: Please like and Subscribe, if you like and use THE SOFTWARE. Please Buy Merch: Check out my Socials: Saturation is a software that grabs the playhead position and duration of entire audio/video files present in your hard drive, and mutates them in order to create a different file of a specific length. No matter what you select as the target length, the original file will never be repeated. Saturation works by iterating through the contents of the drive in a process of note-skipping, playback jumping around and EQ shifting of the audio waveform. The original file is mutated using multiple different algorithms and the result is run through a selection of different mixing processes to achieve the desired result. What's new in Rotund Rebound Original Soundtrack:

by Truth. Awareness is a state of consciousness in which truth has already dawned. Anyone who is not in this state will always doubt the reality of truth because his self-image is formed from denying a reality he has yet to accept. In such a state of denial he will go through life looking for things to satisfy this need within him and ultimately will find less satisfaction and more dissatisfaction. He will seek for the material to fulfill this need, and he will eventually find himself immersed in the dream of material possessions. Anyone who is aware of truth has no need to go outside himself to find a source of satisfaction or contentment. He knows the true source of all his needs and wants and feels infinite satisfaction from reality. He is the Warrior of the True Value of treasures in Truth. Naked truth can easily frighten because of its stark reality, and Truth is often attributed to a higher plane of consciousness than normal people experience. Truth can be sensed rather than seen. When one truly experiences naked truth its brilliance at times can be blinding. Keeping our eyes closed tight against the brilliance, we will not see naked truth because we have already accepted a reality that does not exist. Therefore the brilliance of naked truth appears like a blinding flash of light. All we can do is touch against the brilliance of truth to then accept the fact that truth is indeed brilliant and that it exists in reality. The moment we experience that this brilliant truth exists in our life, though we may have only touched against the edge of a truth, instead of denying that truth, our experience is a blissful moment. For the truth that we have accepted has been enlightened by us, and we can say with truth and certainty that we can step into a real experience of the brilliance of truth. All of us have experienced some truth in our lives that we would today call a truth because it was there, though we were blind at the time to its reality. It was there in your body making you aware of it. You knew and maybe even strongly, even uncomfortably, believed that the mountain was God and the world was heaven. You could not yet see and experience the truth of It exists in your body and is verily making you aware of your life. In such a way you had an epiphany of realization and lived as a truth that this reality that you knew was God and this world was heaven. We now say this truth was a nugget of truth. These nuggets of truth come into your life when you are ready to
